I.K. International Publishing House Pvt. Ltd., 2011. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 16cm x 24cm. Most corporate CEOs in their hearts would be thanking their competitors, as it is the competition that brings about the best in companies. Market share of companies are by far the most prized asset of any company. To keep market share on ever increasing path in the face of tough competition requires continuous uncompromising onslaught on the psyche of the customers, prospective customers of brand fitness to their needs and the Top of the mind recall. The CRM, Customer Relationship Management, which forms the bedrock of the book has been in existence for centuries and yet with severe and chaotic at times, unprincipled competition CRM has become the focus of marketers around the world and it has taken the centre-stage in the marketing of most companies. Even the monopoly companies have realized the importance of CRM as they could land up in severe competitive arena if they did not hold their customers firmly by hand with no chance of letting it go. Increase in market share comes mainly by, taking business from competition, selling more to existing buyers, persuading non-buyers to start buying their brand and...
